As my first year as Principal draws to a close, I would like to take the opportunity to offer a few reflections and a few words of thanks. As the person responsible for a school, one would expect that the importance of getting good grades would be the dominant theme of my yearbook message, but in truth, the responsibility of this job, the various tragedies that some of our students and faculty have undergone in the last few years, and conversations with so many students and parents, have made me ever more aware that in the grand scheme of things it is important that we keep perspective and remember the things that really make life worthwhile. So what would I wish for our students and graduates? Love yourself, your family, friends, and community – and all the rest will follow!

I would like to thank each and every one of you for making my first year as Principal exceptionally memorable. As an alumnus of Weequahic, I am honored to officially welcome you into the Weequahic Alumni Club! You've made your mark here and it is expected that you, like thousands of others, will continue to make your mark in society as a proud Indian! As you embark upon your next stop in life, always remember, "When you want to succeed as bad as you want to breathe, then you'll be successful!" Class of 2014 - You will forever hold a special place in my heart.

"One Family, One School, One Community - Striving for Excellence"
-Principal Ellis, Class of 1996

Elizabeth Aranjo

I wonder what will be the abiding memory that comes to mind when someone mentions Weequahic to you in years to come. Will it be the motto? Will it be the school song? Maybe it will be the prom or an athletic event or the sheer relief of finishing your last exam? Perhaps it will be the graduation ceremony.

Who knows? Among those collective memories will be thousands of moments of laughter, of learning, of friendship and perhaps one or two heartaches. There may even be a little sadness. There is after all certain sadness at coming to an end of a period in anyone's life in which you have loved, laughed and shared. You have been a part of a real community for all its ups and downs.

Hopefully you have learned to become a little more independent.

You should by now have discovered what in each of you are strengths and if you are honest, your weaknesses as well. Don't be afraid to face them. We all have them. That, believe it or not includes your teachers and your parents. The challenge is to take those weaknesses and work on them until they become strengths.

Live your lives in such a way that it will reflect credit upon yourselves, your family and your community. If you keep things in perspective, in the end all that will really matter is what kind of person you were especially to your loved ones.

Oh and don't forget to always say "Please" and "Thank You". As my friend Barney used to sing, they are the magic words.

Congratulations to the Class of 2014!

Troy Long

Class of 2014, what can I say? I am happy that I got to chance to meet so many new and wonderful young men and women. I want to use the little bit of space I have to congratulate you on finishing off this chapter of your life and encourage you to reach new heights in your future. It is my hope that a teacher imparted you with lasting knowledge and furthermore inspired you to chase your dreams. Never forget your experiences here at Weequahic High School and cherish the friendships and memories you forged.

To the Senior Class of 2014:

Be inspired by the possibilities and motivated by the impossible- for both yield growth. As you progress in life, dedicate yourself to that which you feel most passionate. Though the road may be rough, you have to be courageous enough to start the journey, dedicate enough to persist on that journey, and ambitious enough to take your own route sometimes during the journey. I am honored to have worked with such a unique group of students. The talent you possess will privilege you as you embark on your life's journey toward enlightenment.

In closing, I am so very proud of your accomplishments and the impact that you have left on your alma mater, Weequahic High School. Trust that your teachers have equipt you with the necessary tools to excel and I wish you success and greatness in all of your endeavors. Stay true to what you believe and surely greatness will follow.

Seniors as you enter adulthood and are Now chiefly responsible and accountable for actions remember these words: If you can look into the faces of those; whose world has been torn by famine and war; and feel in some way responsible; you know the meaning of LOVE. If you can see people with little or no hope; and know that their survival, is much linked to your own; you know the meaning of BROTHERHOOD/SISTERHOOD. If you feel that those of us; who have been blessed with abundance should share with those less fortunate; you know the meaning of CHARITY. If you can look into the eyes; of a hungry child, and feel their pain; you know the meaning of COMPASSION. If you can travel to the end of the world; to bring hope to those; who would otherwise never know it; you know the meaning of COURAGE. And if you can see a smile; in the faces of those; who should have no reason to smile; you know that there is still TIME.

Tribute to the C/O 2014

A congratulations is in order!

Your senior year presented you with many challenges: As you welcomed a new administrative team, transitioned into a new system of operations (including cell phone surrendering, early morning convocations, and isolated floors), learned of the closing of Weequahic High School, then of the restructuring of Weequahic, then the compounded senior year responsibilities you faced, you managed to persevere. You can look back at this year and smile confirming that opposition made you stronger. You have learned responsibility and throughout your years here at Weequahic you have taught us a few things as well.

We want you to remember where your roots are planted. Never think of this school as just a school because it is so much more than that. For most of you it was a second home, it was where you came to see some of your closest/only friends, it was where you realized that you determine your destiny. We want you to believe that you are a product of your environment and if you don't love what you see when you look at yourself, start working on your community. There is so much work to do and as the enlightened INDIANS that you are, we know that you will continue to confirm how mighty Indians are.

We congratulate you all on your accomplishments and we want to encourage you to stay united. You never know when you can be of service to one another and as you know we are much stronger when we work together.

*We love you and wish you all the best!

Valedictorian Address

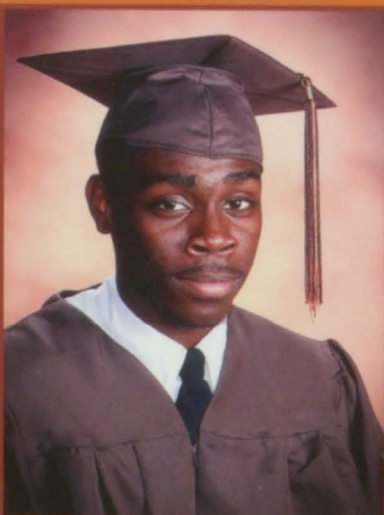

Yetunde Oloko

Time runs very fast! It seems like we were just freshmen yesterday entering high school and now ... the time to leave is here. It's hard to accept that after such a short time here in high school we will be going to another stage of our lives that will totally change us forever, depending on the steps we decide to make or take. I have made countless memories that I'll treasure forever with you guys. Who could ever forget those laughs we had in the cafeteria, the happiness I felt together with my best friend when we all passed the HSPA, and even the crying moment and pain I had when we got into trouble. This is the difficult part of going off to college and being independent; there's no one to tell you what to do. I want to say good luck to everyone. Never give up and always challenge yourself in ways that will benefit you in the future to make you a stronger and more responsible person.

Salutatorian Address

The best part about memories is that they are ever lasting. The experiences we had were so temporary but the memories will forever be with us. I will cherish the many friends and associates I made here at Weequahic High School. The next stage in our lives will definitely separate us but the one thing that keeps us connected is this high school experience. We shared lockers, seats, classes, lunch, and even pens with one another; all in an effort to make it through this experience. It is an honor to walk across the stage after four years of hard work and dedication to receive our diplomas and I am excited to mark this as one of the many degrees I plan to receive. I would like to congratulate each of you on crossing off this first accomplishment from your list of "must haves." In a matter of months we will embark on a new task so I salute you for making it this far and I wish you luck on your future endeavors.

Congratulations class of 2014!!!

Our day has finally come. We shared laughs, good times and bad times but those nostalgic moments made us who we are today. Class of 2014, as we enter the real world, let it not tear us down but make us stronger and wiser. We are the product of the ever building, ever producing Weequahic High School and despite political or social condemnation, we are built to prosper. Let's reach for success and happiness as we enter this new stage in our lives. I wish you all the best in where ever your heart so chooses to take you.

We have come to the end of our journey through high school. This is just the beginning of a new start for all of us. As we take different roads to success, know that the road will not be straight or narrow but determination will get us through. We must be dreaming, for it has gone too quickly. The time we have spent together will soon be in the past. We've grown as a class and really bonded with each other in multiple ways. We had a rocky road getting to the end but we all strived and made it. The class of 2014 is a class to remember. The memories that we share may be priceless but they too are still going to fade away; so I ask you to remember the good times we shared and learn from the bad. Be the best person you can be because the real world is REAL. Whenever the going gets hard, never give up because whenever one door closes, another one opens.

My greatest lesson learned as a senior class officer is the importance of one's opinions...especially my own. Working with such outspoken people was difficult at times but when you work with passionate people, the product is oftentimes greatness. I wish everyone finds their passion and gives it a voice to be heard.

Turning Dreams into a Reality

So what's next for you?

College week included various activities that aimed to engage each student and expose them to the various opportunities that await them. The week began with a college fair that included representatives from various universities and colleges from all over the state. The students were encouraged to collect information from the various universities and extend their search beyond the state as well. The week continued with financial aid workshops, scholarship workshops, and statistical research on the best majors. Finally, teachers wore college gear to represent their alma mater and presented information about their college experiences to students to expose students to the benefits of pursuing a higher education. Seniors who received college acceptance letters were recognized and congratulated on their step in the right direction.

PREPARING for COLLEGE

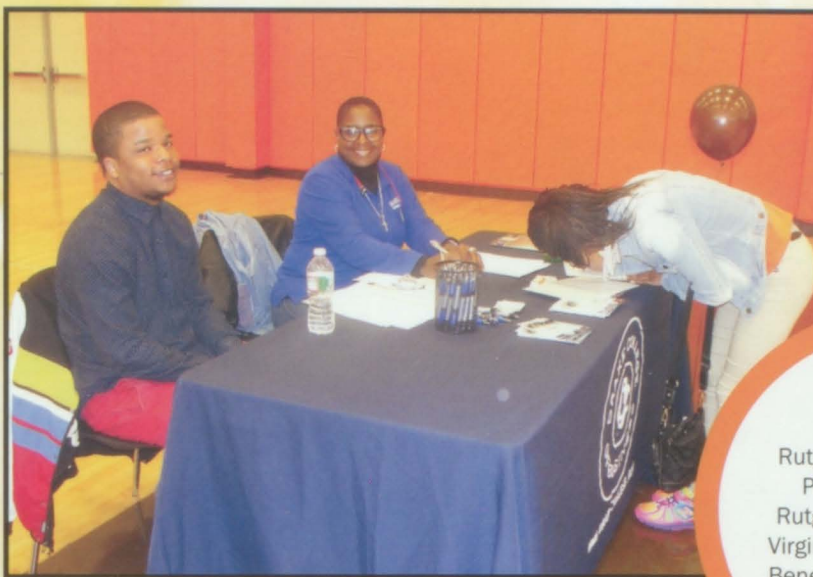

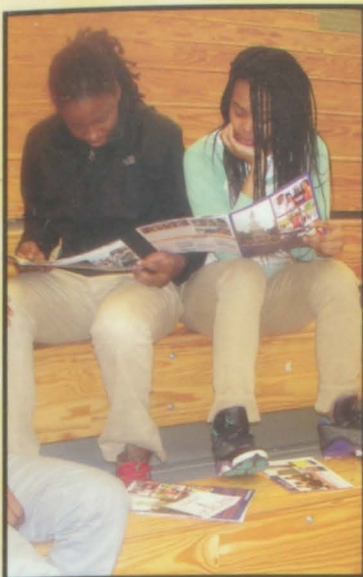

The next step after high school

MAKING THE DECISION...

I want to go to a college that has a diverse population. My major is criminal justice so I want to be able to attend a school with a great criminal justice program and professors who know the business. I plan to stay on campus so I pray I have a cool roommate because I've heard some horror stories about that. In the end, I hope I get into my number one school.
Eboni Deloatch

Seniors attended a grand college fair this year. Students spoke to representatives from over twenty colleges and universities within New Jersey as well as attended numerous workshops on the financial aspects of college including loans, grants, and scholarship options. The students confessed that this experience opened their eyes to the many college opportunities as well as the tedious college selection process.

Students view pamphlets and brochures on the various colleges and universities

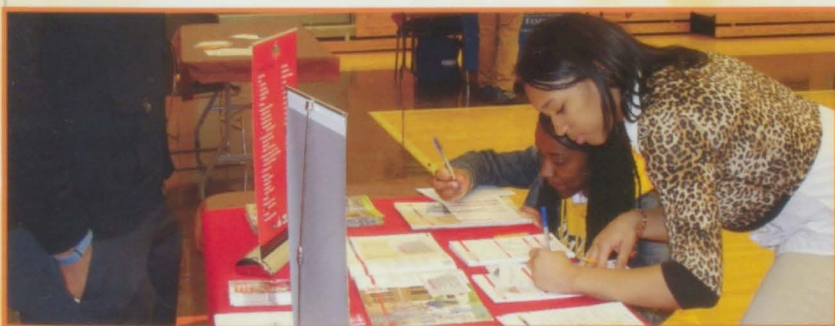

Exploring my options...

I plan to attend

Rutgers University (Oloko)
Penn State (Norman)
Rutgers University (Gopre)
Virginia Union (S. Robinson)
Benedict College (Rasberry)
Kean University (Reynolds)
Art Inst of NYC (Simons)

My goals

Are you ready for college life???

"There are so many factors to consider when making a college selection, but I know I'm ready for the challenge. I know it's going to be different but I think that's what I like most about it. I get to do new things and make my own decisions...its scary but I know what I have to do to get what I want so I prepared myself for this moment."

Q So what Greek Life does your college offer for freshmen students?

Q Are freshmen allowed to have cars on campus?

Q Are there a lot of college parties?

Q

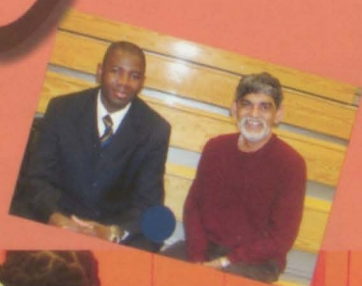

I was thinking about traveling to an out-of-state college just to experience life outside of my city but Montclair State has a new wrestling team. They showed me the financial benefits of attending an in-state college so now my decision is much harder.

Q

What is the most essential ingredient of teaching?

All teachers teach the same things differently.

My Answer:

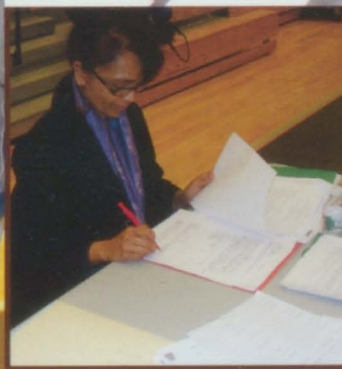

A

Passion is the single most important ingredient of teaching. Without this key ingredient, most students never fully receive the message being conveyed. When you do what you love, it makes it more enjoyable for the giver and the receiver.

SCHOOL SPIRIT WEEK TWIN DAY

SOMETHING and SOMETHING ELSE

DOING WHAT

Twin day is always a success during spirit week. Students plan to wear the same colors, prints, styles, or outfits and experience a full day with their virtual look alike. The objective is to look as similar to your twin yet least like anyone else in the school. Some students may twin with their best friends, others with their team mates, some with their teachers, and others with their significant other. It's interesting to see how some students actually have twin instincts: finishing each other's sentences and sharing mutual reactions/ feelings toward various experiences. The day sometimes highlights who are truly good friends.

Knowing others is wisdom. Knowing yourself is ENLIGHTENMENT.

Student life

90's Day!

As decades pass, fashion begins to be recycled and we see the same styles that were once outdated becoming trendy. The terminology for today's trending style is Harlem Street wear, classified by the boyfriend cut jeans, large graphic t-shirts, and the tying of shirts around the waist. Adidas sweatsuits and Doc Martins as well as metallics and neon colors are once again trendy. Even the suspender jumpsuits and crop tops are back in style. So the 90's day theme for spirit week helps students recognize how history, including fashion, repeats itself.

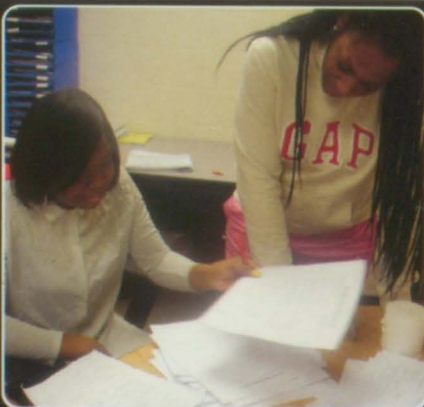

Student/staff switch day

A day in the life of.....

For one day, students are given the task of becoming one staff member in the building. Likewise, teachers are given the opportunity to become a teenager again.

Senior Rudean Smith and Mrs. Bishop become tag team partners as they learned how much more two can do.

"I never considered being a teacher. I know now its not for me but its a cool job."

"It was an honor to shadow Mr. Snead. He has a unique style of teaching and it was interesting to observe him in his element."

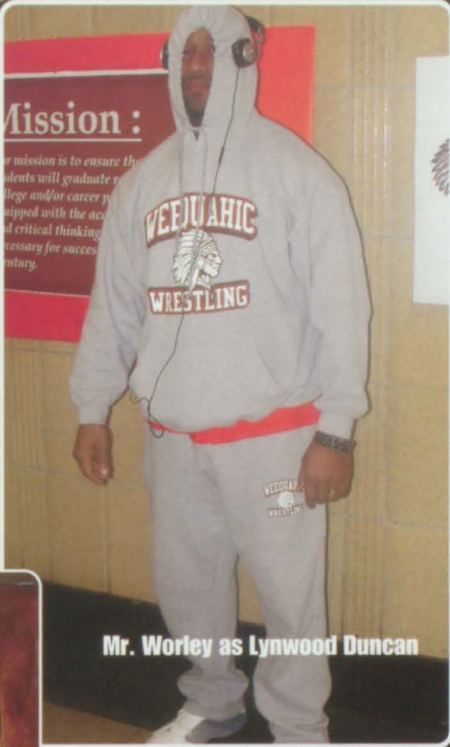

"Way too much walking! Plus these kids don't listen! Hats off to the security staff."

The WOW factor

"I see the similarities"

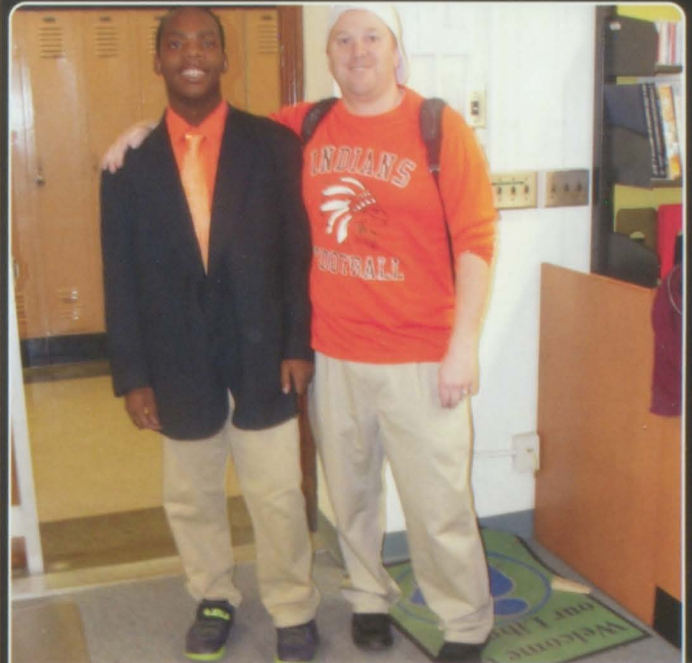

Mr. Worley as Lynwood Duncan

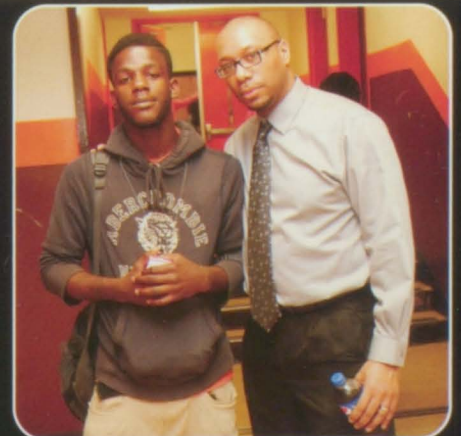

"Everyone in society should be a role model, not only for their own self-respect, but for respect from others."

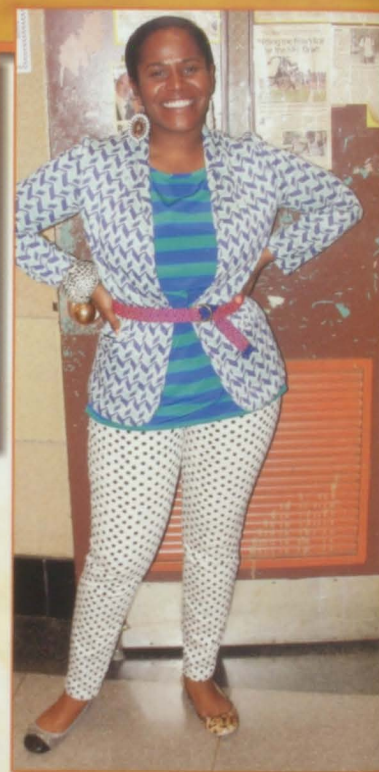

Best Switch Goes To...

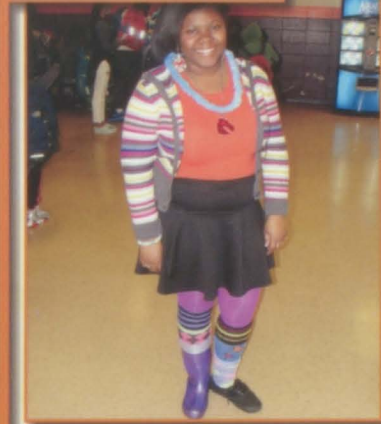

Mr. Hrdina and James Taylor

For some switch day is just another day since they are usually shadowing their role model.

One of the most popular days in school spirit week was the mix match day. Students and staff dressed in the least cohesive attire they could find. Some students mix matched sneakers while others mix matched everything from prints and hair styles to seasonal pieces and colors

Each year we poll the students to see which day during spirit week do they enjoy most. Each year we have the most participation during pajama day because students enjoy the luxury of coming to school in their most comfortable attire. To wake up and not have to worry about matching or spending hours getting ready makes pajama day a real treat. In addition, we get to learn what cartoon character each student likes. Weequahic Basketball

This brotherhood we called a basketball team was strong on and off the court. The team learned that the best way to be in sync with one another was to build a bond that allowed us to play better on the court. Although the team practiced mercilessly and studied our plays intensely, the most valuable element of our success was our cohesive bond. We won together or loss together but at the end of the day, we were brothers.

It ain't nothing to rip your man off!

Coach Bellani:

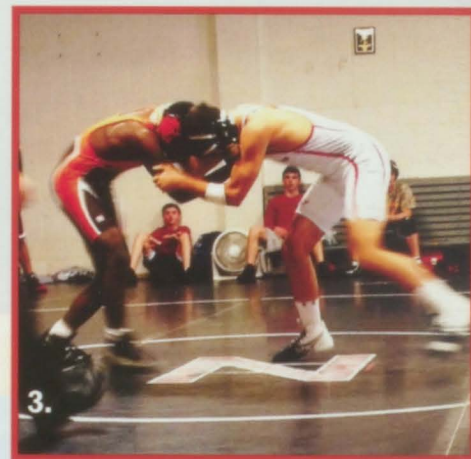

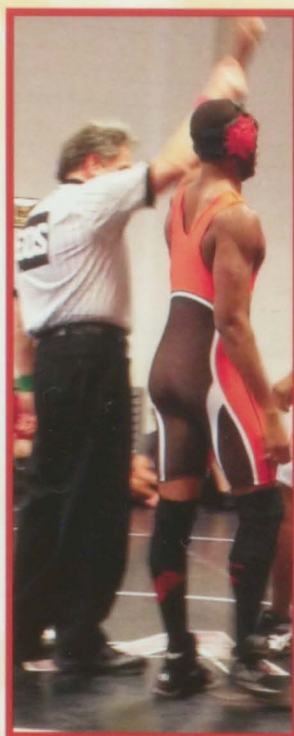

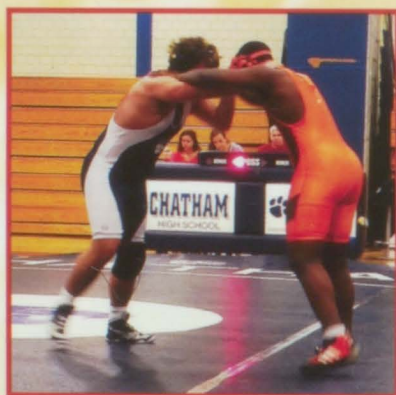

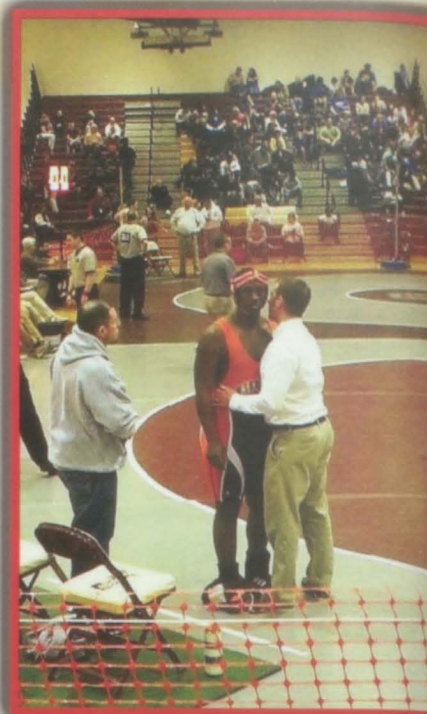

First year with the team and it was clear that these guys were hard workers. My seniors laid the foundation for the inevitable successful seasons to come.

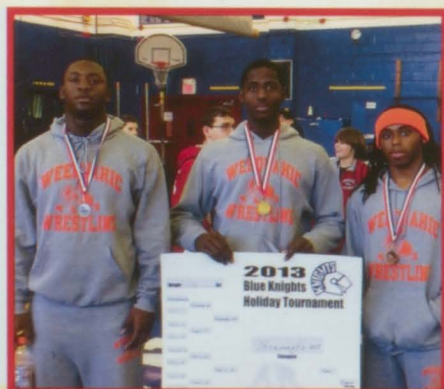

PUSHING OUR LIMITS//

Winner's State of mind

Jahe "Trip" Williams successfully finished his senior year with an astounding 12 win to 4 defeats. He reigns as the second place wrestler in the heavy weight division. Congratulations TRIP!!

LESS TO WORRY ABOUT///

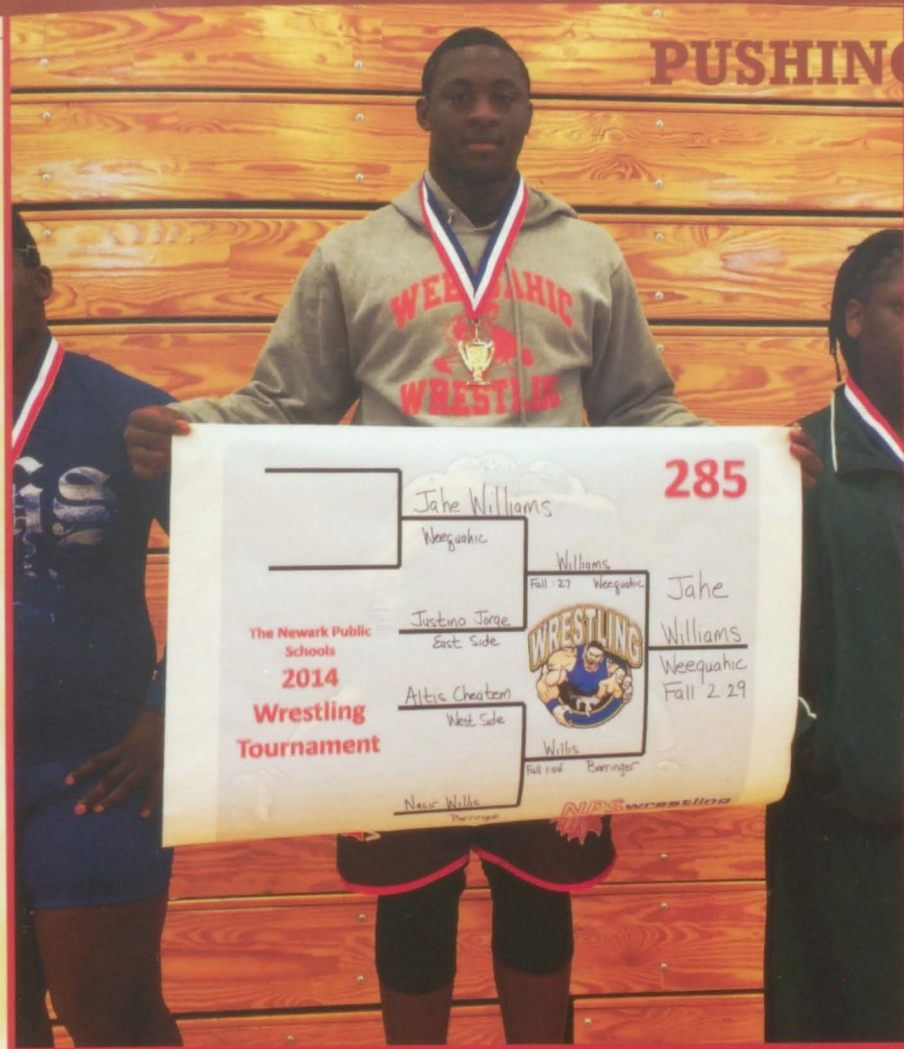

The wrestling team set a new high for Weequahic High School. The young men learned how to strategically overpower their opponents within minutes. Coach Caffrey conditioned the wrestlers to be quicker, smarter, and stronger than they ever were.

PUSHING OUR LIMITS//

Weequahic Wrestlers

"So what's the trick to this wrestling thing?"

The secret to wrestling is "never let anybody touch you." That's highly impossible in this full contact sport so the match is won by the man who possesses the skills, strength, and stamina to overcome his opponent. Wrestling at Weequahic High School is the one sport that has grown the most by increasing its roster from four to fourteen in two years and this was due to the team's success at every weight level. The coaches demonstrated what it takes to get to the middle of the platform at each match and likewise the wrestlers executed the strategies as planned.

Tennis is a sport that has one of the smallest balls and largest courts. The singles matches require one player to cover the distance of the court at the speed of the ball. My girls have to be fast on their feet, agile, and possess the upper body strength to send the ball over with enough force. Sounds easy but very few can do it the way we do it.

Coach Cooper

Tennis is a mental game. Everyone is fit, everyone hits great forehands and backhands.

"When you play a sport you truly love and enjoy, each match is an act of love. You never want to lose something you love."

"Contrary to popular belief tennis is the most popular sport. This is the one sport that include some aspect of all other sports."

"I never knew the value of those precision tests until I had to play myself. The wall is a fierce opponent."

Tennis is a perfect combination of violent action taking place in an atmosphere of total tranquillity.

Performing at various events including football games, school pep rallies, and special events for the staff, the Weequahic Band entertains through the rhythm of their own drums. The choreography of the dancers energizes the crowd urging all to join in on the performance. The syncopated orchestra delivers the latest and most trending combinations of beats that keep the audience on their feet and moving to the rhythm of drum. who 'gone stop us?

Student Name: 00

The girls basketball team did not surprise us at all this year. We knew we had a winning team and they demonstrated to everyone exactly why they were the most feared team in their section. Lead by their captains and dominating offensive duo, seniors Stephanie Davis and Alsaymena Alexander, the ladies made history by being the 1st girls team of WHS to make it past the 3rd round and go on to win the Sectional State Title. The lady Indians emerged onto the court with the spirit of the mighty Indians as the defense of Amatullah Johnson took ownership of our side of the court by stopping any and all who approached. Cierra had the season high of 36 points and the team completed their season with an impressive record of 23-4 and taking home the trophy for First Place in the Christmas Tournament for the first time since 2008.

Hi School Bowl

When chemistry meets physics....

The Weequahic High School bowling team has always had the shortest roster...until this year. On this senior dominated team, the years of prior experience and leisure bowling added to this teams ability to merge the hunger for winning with the thirst for entertainment. The chemistry between the players made the learning experience an enjoyable one and the upward journey more meaningful. The struggle for accuracy and precision was one feat this team was determined to conquer. The team took that long bus ride to the bowling alley where they perfected their form, developed their craft, and ultimately competed with eachother and other opponents.

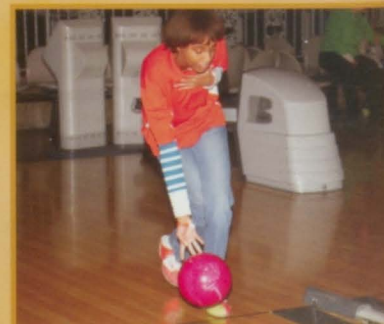

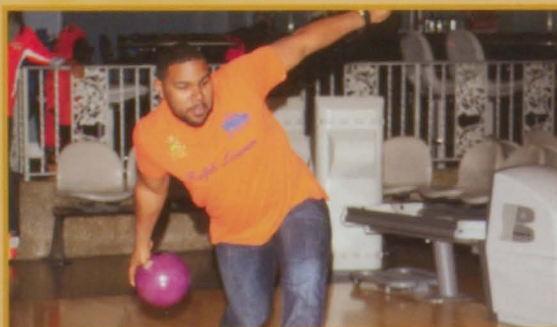

"I improved by watching others bowl. Everyone has their own unique style of bowling but some get the bowling ball down the lane with more precision than others. Those are the bowlers I enjoy watching."
-Destiny Norman

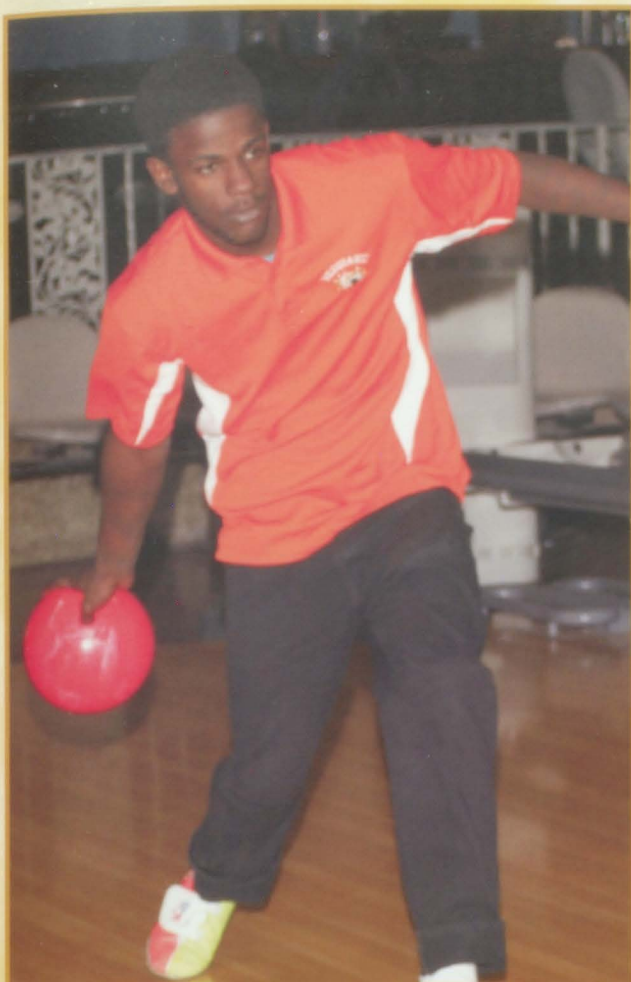

Why I Bowl!!!

"Bowling with my best friends...what more could I ask for. The team was already built, we just needed the balls."

Girls Volleyball

The girls volleyball team completed their season ranking 3rd in their conference. Captains Ebony Deloatch and Daireny Pena were charged with establishing a scholar team so each player met the team's goal of a team GPA of 3.2. The team grew closer by community service projects including the Making Strides Breast Cancer Walk of Newark, attending college volleyball matches at Kean University and Rutgers University, and social events to brunch and ice cream socials. The senior players, Ebony Deloatch, Lashawnah Holiday, and Shanazz Robinson instilled the importance of loyalty and dedication to the sport as well as the team by committing to summer camps and extended practice hours. The team's hardwork and diligence paid off as they closed their season with an impressive record of 13-4.

WHAT DOES OUR TEAM MEAN TO YOU??

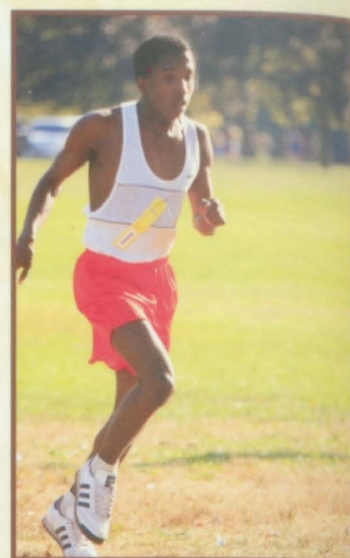

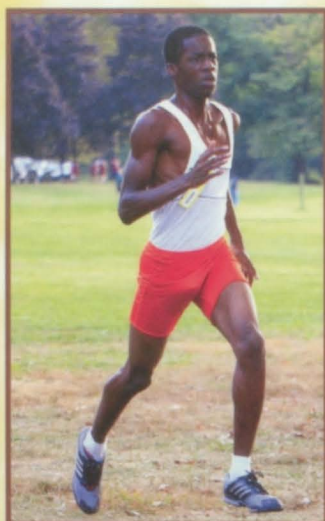

Q: What do you like about volleyball?

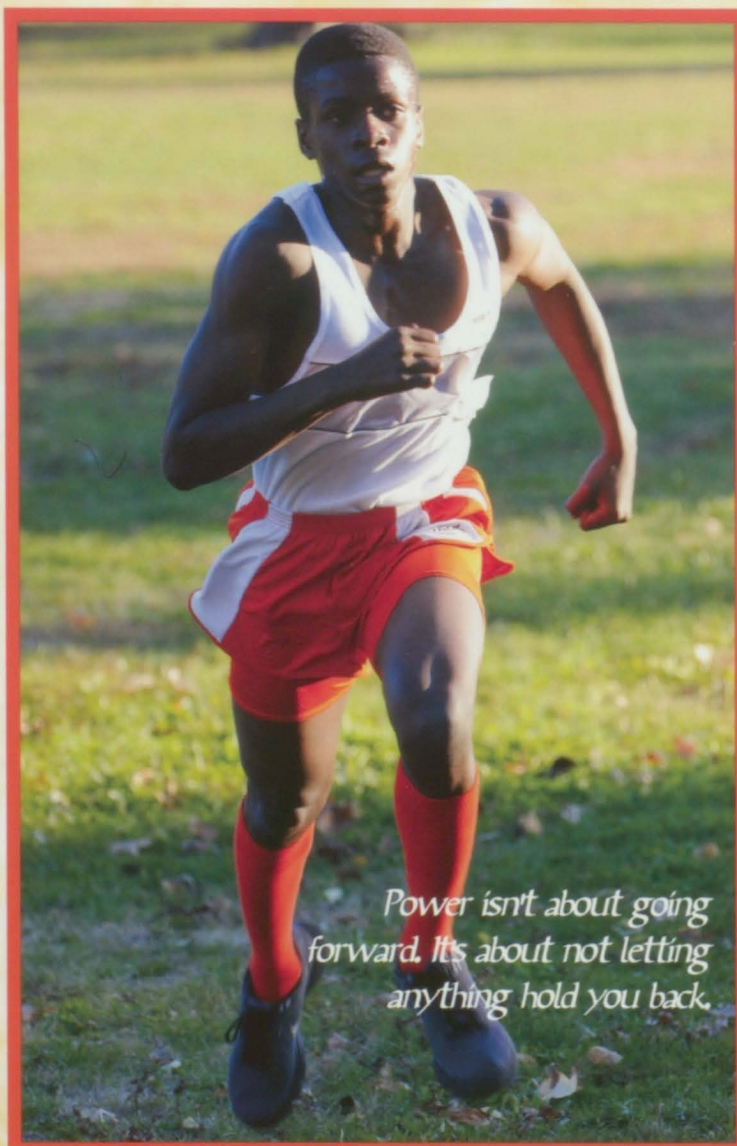

A: I love the energy and speed of the sport. Its strange because although its a team sport, each person has an individual responsibility. What I love most is the unexpected passion we had for the sport. It just came out of nowhere. As we learned the skill of the sport, we loved it and eachother more. I'm going to miss my team.
Lashawnah Holiday

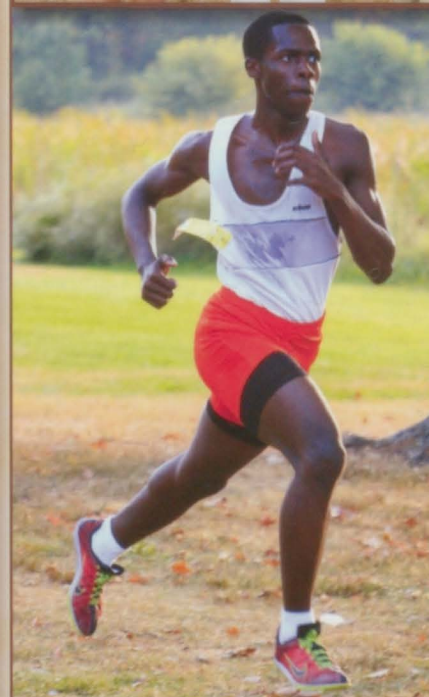

I wish I could describe these athletes in a few words but the truth is I just can't. They surpass my expectations each and every time we hit the track. It amazes me how I can give them a goal and despite the odds or the statistics of their opponents, they meet their individual goals making each meet is a success for us. In addition to the championships, we reign supreme because they determined their finish line.
 Coach Zahir

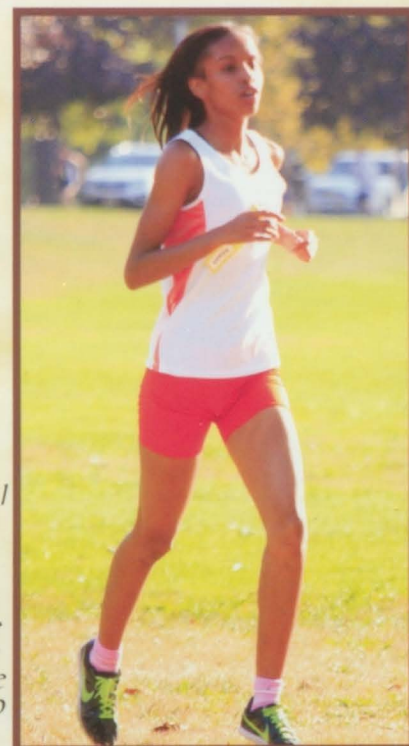

THE Track & Field Team

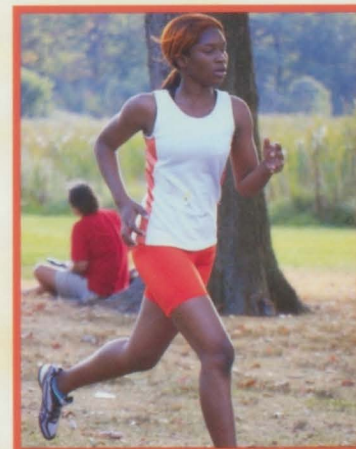

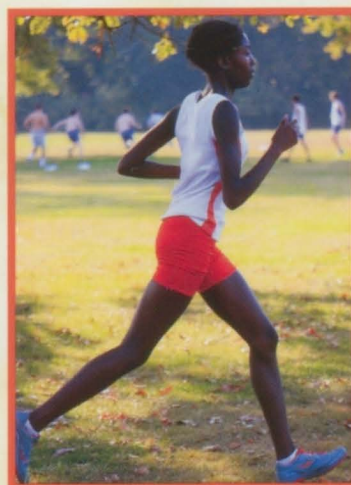

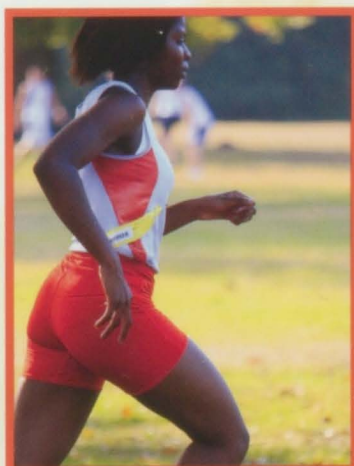

Power isn't about going forward. It's about not letting anything hold you back.

I've been running all my life so I think of running as my life. Unfortunately people only see track and field as a race to a marked finish line. Coach Zahir translated this race into a more meaningful competition. I have to be the first runner across the finish line and impress myself so much that others have no other option but to crown me victorious. Running, jumping, throwing- I must be better than I've been.

Just because

Every moment you don't spend playing soccer, someone else

better

The soccer team exercised their footwork on and off the field. This team was famous for not only their ability to drive the soccer ball the entire distance of the field but also for their dancing skills. After years of playing with passion, speed, and heart, this unique team of young men were constantly accelerating their skill set. As they became one of the top teams in their division, the soccer team always put on their best show when they were scheduled to play on their home field (Untermann Field) with impressive defense and explosive offense.

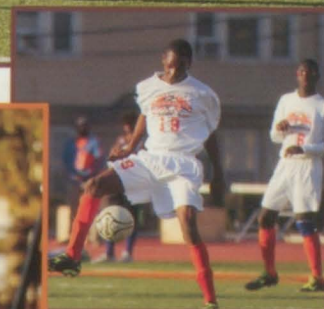

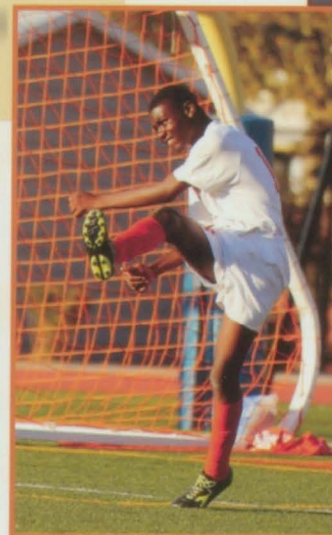

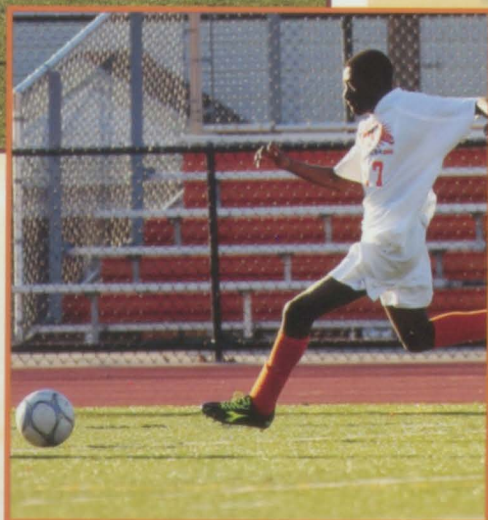

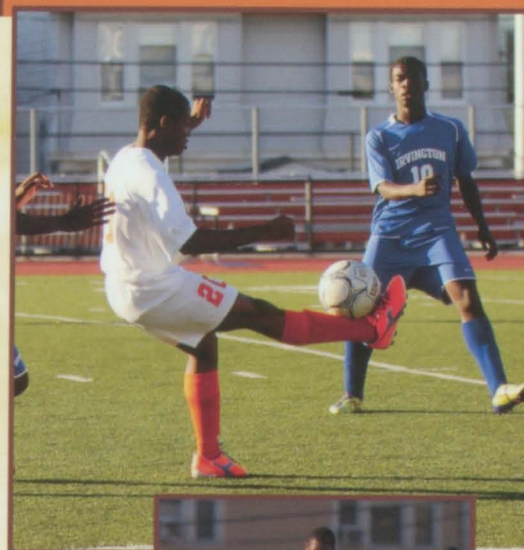

Playing with your feet is one thing.
Playing with your heart is another.

To me soccer is more than just a ball and two goals.
It connects people from all corners of the world.

your all,
you win it all!!!

It's a completely different feeling when you're out there on the field. I really can't explain the joy and excitement I feel each and everytime the ref blows the whistle. I may not be great at many other things but I'm working on being one of the greats in this game.

Some coaches make great players. I'm more focused on making great men. If they play the game of life as well as they strategize, commit, and execute plays on the field, then and only then am I a great coach. This is just a gateway to get them to fulfill the dreams.

Coach Logan Sr.

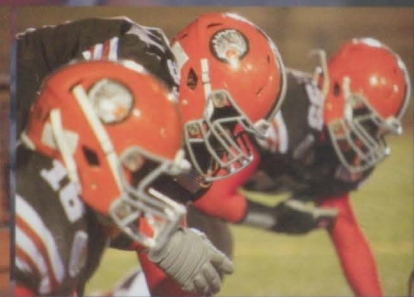

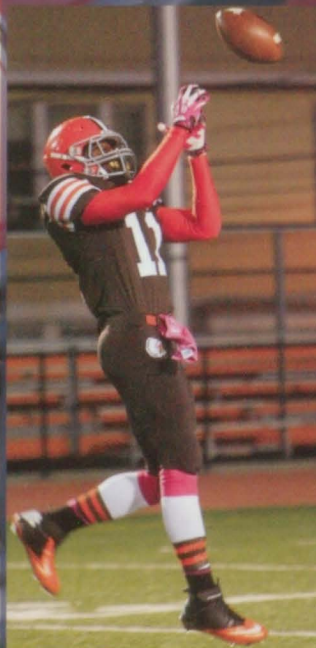

"I wanted to quit so many times but then I remembered that if I did, I would be letting down 40 other guys who needed me. I knew they needed me as much as I needed them. The practices were intense but the most difficult part was leaving practice. All I knew was I needed to leave my mark on the team-mine and others!..so I did just that."

Weequahic High School Presents its 2nd Annual **

Family Fun Day

The school's mantra this year was "One Family, One School, One Community, Striving For Excellence." With this belief in mind and heart, the staff organized our second annual family/community Fun Day event. The event was decorated with carnival style games such as bottle toss and balloon pops. Coaches and athletes showcased their sports along the outskirts of the gym. The band did a drumline performance during intermission. The staff and students all enjoy and look forward to this event each year.

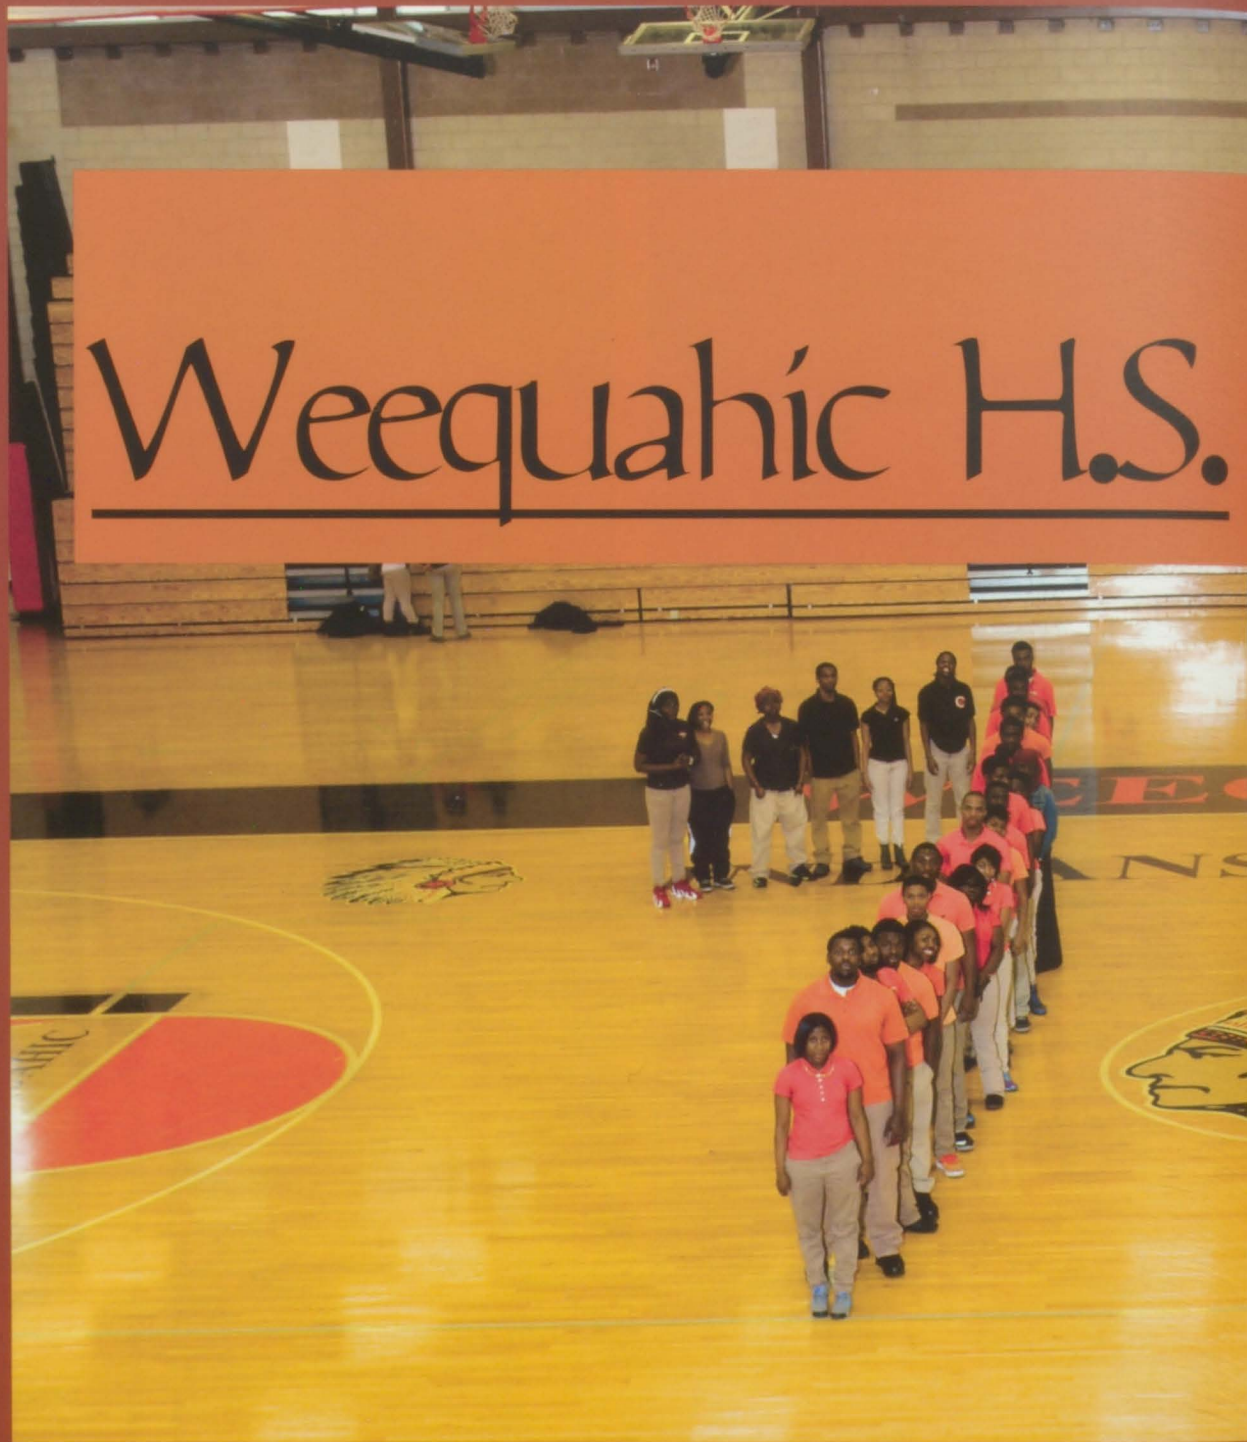

Who Needs Community Service???

Seniors performed the many tasks necessary to make this event successful:

- *hosts
- *concessions
- *gaming operators
- *event hosts
- *dance competition host
- *performers

This was a class of many bold moments. From the unaware teens of tomorrow to the enlightened young men and women of today, the class of 2014 is continuing to live bold.

the enlightenment of man

Learning about yourself and others...

We spent countless days growing individually and collectively. The many lessons on mathematic equations and famous authors and scientific experiments and sports challenges and great wars in history and amazing musicians and creative artists exposed us to a plethora of information that helped us better understand our passions. Being challenged to define ourselves was the best part of our high school experience and it only took four years for us to learn why we were learning all of those things we thought were so pointless.

Speak UP

Where is your favorite place
to study and why?

I prefer the computer lab. Its usually no one in there so I get the entire room to myself...just like I like it.

I prefer the media center. Its always cozy and Ms. Reid is mad cool so she shows us how to find what we need.

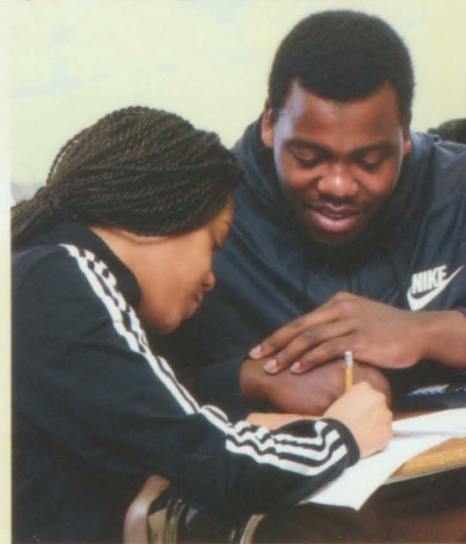

I prefer to study at home, in my room, by myself. I need absolute silence. I hate it when someone starts talking to me while I'm trying to study.

AP Calculus

Senior Ryan Rasberry
"AP CALCULUS was the most challenging course I have ever had-seriously. The best and worst part about the class was the process you had to go through to get to each answer. We would spend two blocks on one question. "

" Each year is a new adventure. The students respond to the challenge slightly different and this class was very consistent and ambitious. They challenged themselves, each other, and me each day and that is the essence of Advanced Placement."

-Mr. Cherian

Senior Shalaya Washington
"Mr. Cherian is the best math teacher!!! He was so excited about teaching and that made us excited about learning. The class was small so we were close and comfortable with helping each other. "

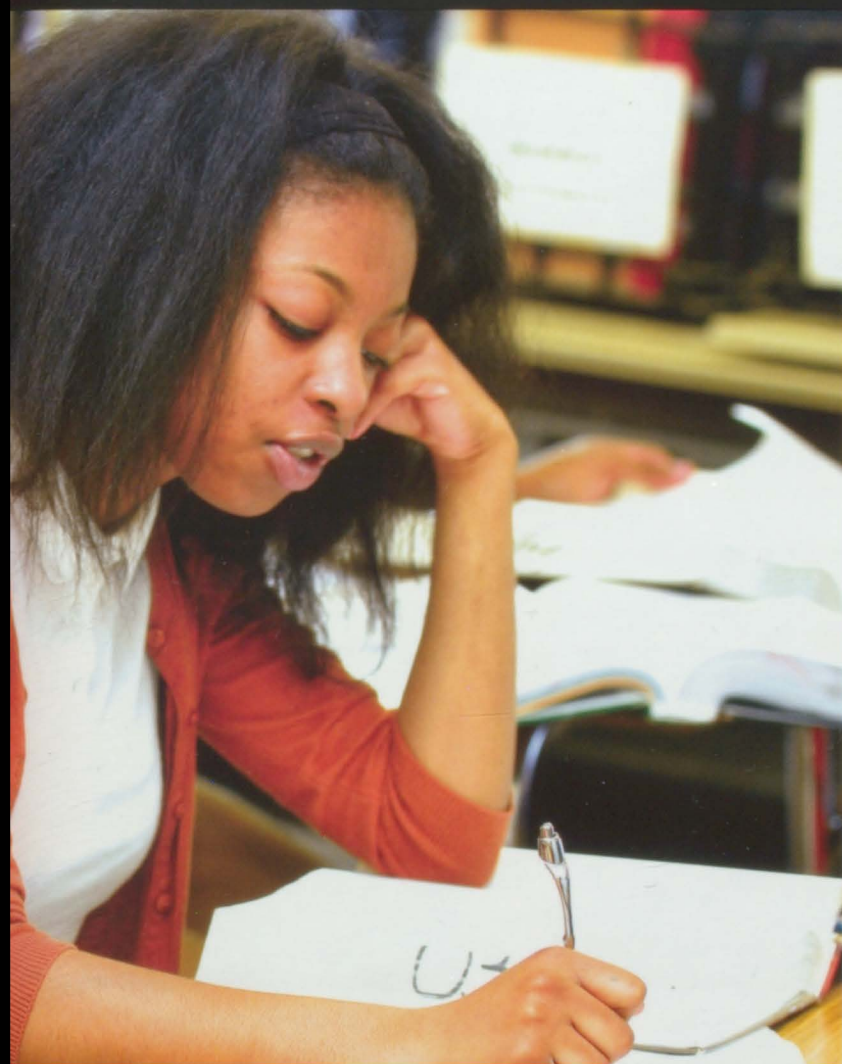

Senior Tania Faison
"I wouldn't say that the class was hard but it was definitely the hardest class I ever had. I enjoyed knowing that there was an end to the problem and figuring out my way there"

The Beautification of Weequahic

Through the efforts of the entire community, Weequahic High School planted over two dozen trees along the perimeter of Weequahic High School, Chancellor Annex, and Chancellor Elementary School.

Tree Planting

The NJ Tree Foundation instructed all volunteer tree planters on how to plant a sturdy, tall, and balanced tree.

Team building via community building

The Weequahic High School track and field team came out just before a Saturday meet to plant their tree.

Mr. Healy assisted with the volleyball team to plant their trees.

1-2-3 TREES!!!

Over 200 volunteers dedicated their Saturday morning to improving our community.

Donating Blood

"If you're a blood donor, you're a hero to someone, somewhere, who received your gracious gift of life."

How valuable is life to you?
What if you needed blood?

—exactly—

how does this work?

- 1 Register with the student volunteers using school ID and get a number
- 2 Read the information about blood donations to make an informed decision
- 3 If eligible, take a snack for nourishment and water
- 4 When your number is called, go to the appropriate stations and wait for assistance
- 5 You will donate a pint of blood today and save a life

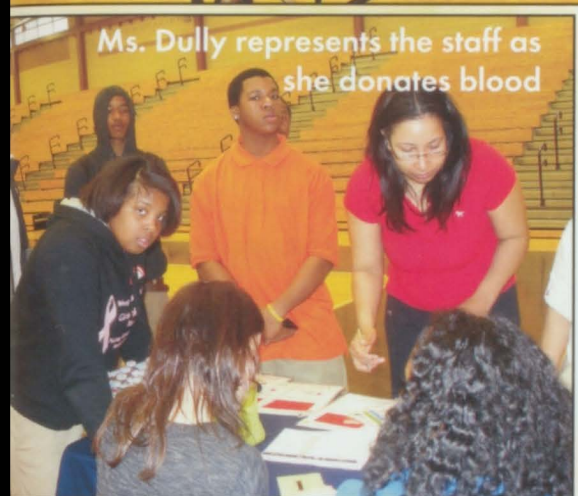

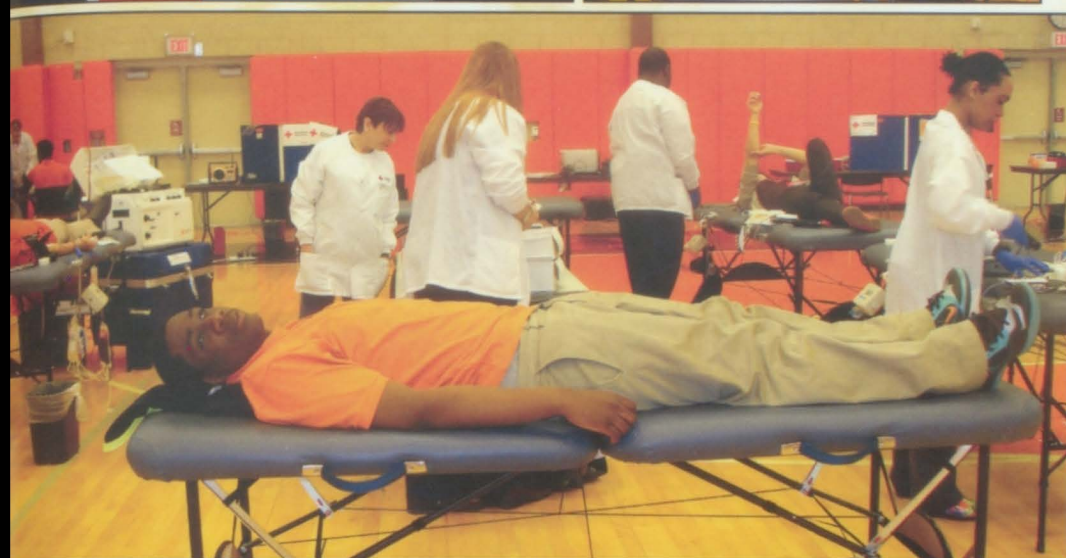

"I was a bit skeptical at first because its blood and you hear so many stories about blood. Plus needles are not my favorite so I had to think twice about the process. However, after being properly informed about the benefits of donating and the precautions taken, I decided to participate. Many people can never say they gave a part of themselves to save the life of a complete stranger...now I can and I am PROUD of myself for that."

-Zydasia Ford

The girls volleyball assisted American Red Cross with the Blood Drive this year. Juniors Chayne Allen, Dominique Jarrell, and Daireny Pena acted as receptionists welcoming all volunteers and completing the necessary paperwork. The volunteers were then directed to the custody of seniors Anthony Turner, Lashawnah Holiday, Eboni Deloatch, Yantee Edwards, and Shanazz Robinson for nourishment and station assignments.

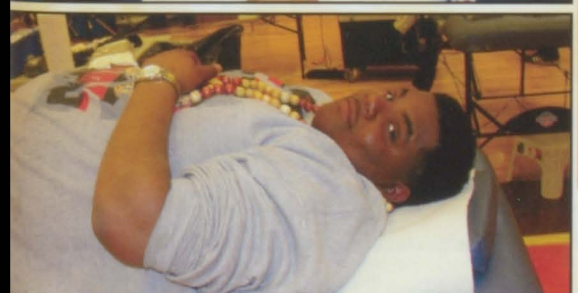

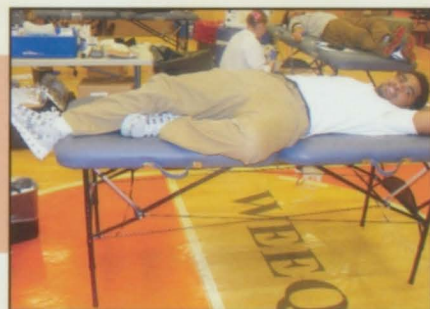

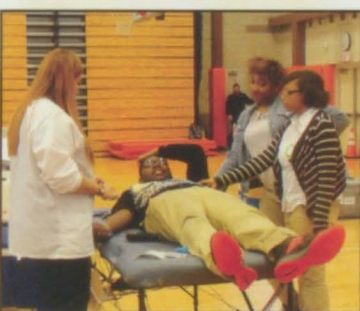

Ms. Dully represents the staff as she donates blood

"It was a very rewarding experience to donate blood. I was excited weeks later when I received a letter in the mail thanking me for saving a life due to my blood donation."

"Never expect more than you are willing to give." The most enlightened person understands that life is a cycle of give and take. No one wants to stay on either side too long so be wise enough to understand the value of playing both sides. This yearbook is a lookbook that captures some of your more memorable experiences your senior year. I truly hope that you enjoy it and look back at it in the years to come and reflect on your age of enlightenment. You should be able to determine your level of maturity as well as your level of commitment to your school. Please take care of this book as it encapsulate the memorabilia collected throughout your final years of high school.
